A Message from Visa Canada

Visa Canada is pleased to partner with the Tourism Industry Association of Canada (TIAC) on our fourth annual travel snapshot, offering TIAC’s members, partners and stakeholders insight into the spending patterns of Visa cardholders both in Canada and abroad.

At Visa, our innovative spirit comes from connecting thousands of financial institutions, tens of millions merchants and hundreds of millions of cardholders over the past 50 years. Innovation knows no borders, and with international visitors arriving in record numbers, it is critical that we continue to seamlessly enable new ways to pay, across borders and currencies. Visa is proud to offer both Canadian travellers and visitors to our country fast, easy and secure payment experiences whether they are shopping in store, online or on-the-go, or across borders and currencies.

As mobile technology accelerates the pace of change in the payments industry, it helps open new possibilities for a generation of travellers who increasingly rely on connected devices to shop, pay and travel. Electronic payments have added billions of dollars to the tourism sector, and we will continue to work hard to deliver innovations that benefit TIAC’s members and ensure safe, seamless payment experiences for everyone, everywhere.

Sincerely,

Rob Livingston

A Message from the Tourism Industry Association of Canada

The Tourism Industry Association of Canada (TIAC), in partnership with Visa Canada, is proud to release the fourth edition of the Travel Snapshot - our series of annual reports into the travel spending of Visa cardholders in Canada, and Canadian spending abroad. It has become a valuable tool for the tourism industry to better understand the travel behaviour and spending habits of visitors to Canada from key markets around the world.

Canada welcomed over 8.5 million international summer visitors in 2016, including a record 2.5 million overseas visitors between May and August. Visa Canada reports that during this period international travellers to Canada spent $3.9 USD billion using Visa cards; a year-over-year bump of over 9%. High currency exchange rates helped keep Canadians at home with Visa reporting a corresponding 7% reduction in Canadian travel spending outside the country.

The United States continues to be a bright spot, accounting for over 53% of summer spending in Canada at $2.1 USD billion - an increase of over 11% from 2015. A breakdown of US spending by state, reveals that all top ten source States increased spending in Canada with California, New York and Washington topping the list. 2017 is shaping up to be a huge year for Canadian tourism and TIAC is hopeful that this report helps businesses make the most of the opportunity.

Sincerely,

Charlotte Bell
PRESIDENT AND CEO
TOURISM INDUSTRY ASSOCIATION OF CANADA
According to 2016 VisaVue Travel Data*, Canadian inbound tourism during the summer season (May to September) produced sales of $3.9 billion (increase of 9.2%). Canadians travelling to destinations outside Canada spent $4.9 billion (decrease of 7%).

INBOUND

Once again, the United States contributed the most in total revenue - summer spending by Americans represented 53% of overall inbound spend, or $2.1B, an increase of 11.7% from 2015. While American visitors hail from all over the States, US tourists visiting from California spent the most this summer ($225M), followed by New York ($173M), Washington ($144M), Florida ($88M) and Texas ($72M). While visitor spend from California, New York and Washington increased, Floridians’ spend remained the same and Texans spent slightly less than last year.

Visitors to Canada spend their dollars all across the nation, with strongest concentration of spend in Ontario, British Columbia and Quebec. American and British visitors spent the most in Toronto; visitors from China and Germany spent the most in Vancouver and Montreal topped the list for French visitors. Each of the top five countries showed strong spending in key categories such as retail, lodging and restaurants.

OUTBOUND

During the summer travel season, Canadians spent $4.9 billion internationally. The United States remains the favourite Canadian destination, with 58% of sales ($2.9B). Canadians’ second favourite destination was the United Kingdom, with 4% of sales ($220M).
